

Using the Scan to list tool

If you're selling trading cards, you can use the Scan to list tool in the eBay app to easily create your listings.

Save time when creating listings for your trading cards with the Scan to list tool.

You'll find the Scan to list tool in the latest version of the eBay app on iOS and Android. The tool isn't available on desktop or mobile web.

How to scan a trading card

You can use the new Scan to list tool to list Magic: The Gathering, Pokémon, and Yu-Gi-Oh! trading cards. In the future, you'll also be able to scan sports trading cards and other collectible card games.

Here's how to scan your trading cards:

- Make sure you update your eBay app to the latest version.
- Go to Selling and tap List an item.
- Type in your game name.
- Tap the blue box to launch the image scanner.
- Select the match for your card and complete your listing.

- Once you've finished scanning a card, a draft of your listing will be created. Keep in mind that you're responsible for the details in your listing, even if we helped you fill out the form so make sure to review the details before you publish. If you need to make a change, you can manually update your listing.

Tip Make sure to scan physical cards only. Foil cards can be scanned but you'll need to select the foil version match, if it's available, or mention that it's a foil card in the item specifics.

Adding images of your trading cards

You can add up to 24 images to your listing. Be sure to take your own pictures to give buyers a better idea of the authenticity and condition of your cards.

Make sure to include images of the front and back of your cards, and be sure to include photos that clearly show any unique details, blemishes, or other imperfections. If the resolution of your images is too low, you'll be prompted to upload higher resolution photos. The thumbnail images used when you match your card on the app are for reference only and won't be added to your listing.

Shipping your trading cards

You can use the eBay standard envelope shipping service to ship raw cards (up to 3 oz) with a listing price of $20 or less. Find out more about the eBay standard envelope shipping service - opens in new window or tab.

Troubleshooting the Scan to list tool

If you experience any problems using the Scan to list tool, try the following troubleshooting tips:

- If there isn't a match for your card, try to scan it again. If the error persists, your card may not be in our catalog yet and you'll need to manually create your listing.
- If you selected an accurate match but the details are incorrect, you can still manually edit the item specifics in the draft to accurately match your card before publishing your listing.
- If your photos appear cropped or blurry, they may have been resized to meet our listing requirements. You can try uploading images that are different sizes or resolutions.
