

Finding your sold items

You can find a history of the items you've sold in My eBay or Seller Hub.

You can view all your sold items from the past 2 years in either Seller Hub or My eBay.

You can find your sold items for the last 2 years in either Seller Hub or My eBay:

- From <https://www.ebay.com/sh/ovw> - Seller Hub - opens in new window or tab look at your Orders tab. You can search by buyer, order status (e.g. awaiting payment), and time frame

- From the <https://www.ebay.com/mys/sold> - Sold section - opens in new window or tab

in My eBay

- Go to Sold items - opens in new window or tab

Tip On eBay, we call items you're selling "active listings" and items you've sold "completed" or "ended" listings.

Every time you complete a sale on eBay, you'll receive a 12-digit order number. The order number does not replace the item number; it allows you to reference the entire order. You can find order numbers on the Orders tab in Seller Hub.

We're currently working on making order numbers available in My eBay. Here's how to search using the order number in Seller Hub:

- Go to <https://www.ebay.com/sh/ord> - Orders - opens in new window or tab in Seller Hub. Select Orders from the dropdown menu. Choose a time frame to see orders for up to the last 2 years.

- You can also search by order status—such as awaiting payment, awaiting postage, paid and posted, and awaiting feedback.
