

Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) for business sellers shipping goods to Spain

Extended Producer Responsibility - La responsabilidad ampliada del productor (RAP) - opens in new window or tab - requires business sellers to add a Producer of Products Registry registration number to all invoices, receipts and sales documentation issued to buyers based in Spain.

For invoices issued to buyers based in Spain, business sellers need to add eBay's Producer of Products registration number as follows: "Spanish Producer of Products Registration Number: ENV/2023/000034242"

Are you a business seller shipping goods within Spain? See our Spanish Seller Center page - opens in new window or tab to learn how these EPR requirements apply to you as a Spanish business seller. Read below if you are a business seller shipping goods to buyers based in Spain. Examples of this include:

- You are shipping goods to Spain from a foreign country, e.g. the United States
- You reside in Spain and are shipping goods to Spain from your warehouse in Italy

Fulfilling your obligations as Producer of Products through eBay

Extended Producer Responsibility aims to extend the liability and specific obligations of producers, importers and eBay sellers in relation to the products they sell into the Spain market, including their end-of-life, and the collection and recycling of residues generated by the product in question. As of March 29, 2023, Royal Decree 1055/2022 - opens in new window or tab on packaging and packaging waste established the EPR requirements regarding packages:

- Intended for use or consumption by individuals
- Susceptible to being purchased by the consumer in shops
- Regardless of the place of sale or consumption

If, as a business seller, you are responsible for shipping packaging materials to your buyers located in Spain, you may be considered a Producer of Products and subject to comply with the obligations established in Royal Decree 1055/2022. To comply with this legislation, business sellers will need to add eBay's Producer of Products Registry registration number to invoices for goods shipped to Spain as follows:

- "Spanish Producer of Products Registration Number: ENV/2023/000034242"

Beyond adding this registration number to your invoices, eBay will fulfill all other requirements associated with this Royal Decree for business sellers shipping goods to Spain, such as:

- Reporting the annual packaging volume put into circulation in the market
- Becoming part of a SCRAP (Collective Scheme for RAP) such as ECOEMBES
- And settling related fees such as the economic contributions to a SCRAP eBay has registered as a Producer of Products with ECOEMBES and will declare all products that are imported into Spain through ECOEMBES. ECOEMBES is the Spanish non-profit organization that coordinates the recycling of light household packaging in Spain and thus acts as the SCRAP of reference for business sellers considered to be Producers of Products in accordance with this regulation. Visit <https://www.ecoembes.com> - opens in new window or tab for additional information. If you have, independently of eBay, already taken steps to be compliant with this legislation, please continue using your own unique Producer of Products Registry registration number on your invoices for goods shipped to Spain.

Extended Producer Responsibility, EPR, Selling in Spain, RAP requirements, RAP, Producer of Products Registry registration number, Producer of Products, EPR Spain, Spanish Producer of Products, Producer of Products registration number, Producer of Products registry, Invoices for Spanish Buyers, EPR Spanish business sellers, Spanish EPR, shipping to Spain, Spanish

shipping,Spanish business sellers,shipping goods to Spain</h2>