<h2&gt;This page describes our seller standards program. Another way in which we evaluate seller performance is service metrics</a&gt;.Every month we take a look at how much you&#39;ve sold recently, and how many of those sales resulted in a poor experience for the buyer, such as not receiving the item they ordered. We measure individual performance on areas within your control – fulfilling orders on time and resolving any buyer issues promptly. We also have some safeguards in place to protect sellers and ensure fair evaluation. It 's important to check your Seller Dashboard on a regular basis so you can see how your performance is tracking, and, if needed, take action before the next evaluation. Use the button below to see your current seller level, it if evaluated well what would be today.View Seller Dashboard opens in new window or tab</a&gt;If your current or projected seller level has dropped to Below Standard, it's important to focus on minimizing cases closed without seller resolution and order cancellations as soon as possible – this will help to improve your performance on these metrics at the next evaluation.
